Dear Ladies and Gentlemen, dear Readers,

With great pleasure and satisfaction, we introduce you to this special catalogue. We are publishing it not only because of the upcoming summer, but also due to the 15th anniversary of Luxury Travel.

When our travel agency was set up in 2003, on the Polish market there was nobody so courageous and determined to offer such exclusive journeys, such luxurious hotels and such high standards for prices to which many Poles could not get used for a long time. The challenge was even bigger as we could not take similar foreign travel agencies as role models, because the Polish have a different taste than the British, American or Italian when it comes to holiday destinations and other aspects of travelling.

After a long period of dynamic marketing our non-standard services, prosperous and more demanding clients were gradually getting used to the thought that holidays were worth spending a big amount of money. We were pleased that Polish travellers started to take into account such aspects like the history of the hotel, its original design and famous guests, sophisticated cosmetics used in its spa, kinds of pillows in its pillow menu or exquisite cuisine served by its restaurant rather than dining on the all-inclusive basis. In other words, our vision of luxury tourism started to be better understood and more appreciated.

Since the beginning of our activity we have specialized in individual journeys and we have been eager to get acquainted with our customers' needs. It can be said that over the years we all have been learning – our travel agency together with our luxury travellers. We are proud that from a small family-run business we have become the leader in selling luxury and dreams.

We have a great team of young people with numerous passions and interesting personalities. They present you with holiday itineraries prepared in such a way as if they were made for themselves. We always know which hotel has just been opened and where exciting Valentine's Day or New Year's Eve deals are offered. Our company owns its success to the personalities of the members of its board and management. We travel continuously in search of the most beautiful places and extraordinary hotels so that you could experience the same – a journey in the style of Luxury Travel!

Diana Carter, CEO&Founder

What do I love and which journeys do I recall most often?

The vastness of the Sahara, palm-fringed oases, where you can sit in the shade and enjoy the views. But also these places in the desert where I met its hospitable and not civilization-corrupted inhabitants.

I love the cliffs of Bali as well as old African and Middle East cities, especially Arab medinas with hundreds of streets and thousands of treasures which I bring from my journeys and which my flat in Warsaw can not contain any more. I brought some of them to the office at 50 Hoża Street where their exotic beauty can intrigue our clients.

The places I return to.

The French Riviera, for sure. I spent a couple of years there, in an international language school, which aroused my interest for other cultures and my love for travelling. My favourite places are Château de la Chèvre d'or, Saint Jean Cap Ferrat and, of course, chic and crazy Saint-Tropez, where one should spend at least a long weekend...

The smell of good perfumes, expensive cigars, lavender, pines, the fresh breeze from the bay, the taste of foie gras, truffle-based dishes, cold Rose wine, the sight of elegant yet relaxed tourists, beautiful but peculiar cars, celebrities' yachts – all of these and many more add to the unique but full of positive energy atmosphere of Saint-Tropez and the surrounding beaches of Pampelonne.

Monika Cebula, Vice-President

Where do I return when I travel?

I always return to the Swiss Alps, to St. Moritz and to my beloved Zermatt. I dream of flying to Myanmar and Uzbekistan again. These two countries have impressed me most over the past few years as they allow to live a dream about a different culture, in a completely different dimension. In Myanmar there are almost no cars, but there are plenty of centuries-old Buddhist temples and its inhabitants present a distanced life attitude. At both Myanmar and Uzbekistan bazaars there are neither branded European products nor Chinese counterfeits. Local products only. It's simply a fairy tale...

Which hotels I have visited in the past few years impressed me most?

Six Senses Laamu in the Maldives with its 'No News No Shoes' policy which allows you to get rid of your shoes for the whole stay and forget about work and daily life stress. You can just laze around, enjoy the turquoise of the sea and the greenery of tropical plants, and make advantage of the Laamu Atoll's attractions.

InterContinental Danang Sun Peninsula with its monumental buildings, well-equipped villas, gardens, the beach, its service etc. It's difficult to describe in one sentence only. Therefore, I'll say:

if you aren't convinced to visit Vietnam, you'll definitely change your mind after spending some time at the hotel, seeing the breath-taking Ha Long Bay and stunning Hoi An by the way.

Marek Mazur, Managing Director

What do I love about travelling? My favourite places in the world?

I love spending time actively. Rushing through Tuscan serpentine in a Ferrari, hiking through the rainforest of Costa Rica, traversing Africa by a motorbike. Motorbike excursions to the most beautiful, but also the strangest places in the world, are my true passion. Having the privilege of being the co-owner of the most elite travel agency in our country, during such trips I stay at 7* hotels, for example in Morocco, but next day I put up a tent somewhere in the Atlas Mountains, where I drink coffee prepared on a portable gas stove and admire the night sky lit with a thousand of stars.

I love Africa for its diversity, colours and authenticity, South Africa - for its outstanding wine, exquisite cuisine and marvellous coast, Senegal - for Saint Louis Jazz Festival, hospitality and great people. I also like Andalusia for the smell of lemons, picturesque mountains, olive groves and lovely pueblos, Java - for spiritual and cultural experiences, Sumba Island in Indonesia - for the fact that such places still exist.

I've seen a lot in my life, but one of my favourite places, although it may seem difficult to believe, is Luxury Travel office with its professional team of specialists - people with numerous passions and full of positive emotions. Therefore, I'm always happy when I return to Warsaw. However, my restless soul manifests itself quickly, next journey calls, so I simply can't stay in 50 Hoza Street for long.

Where do I return?

I spend a lot of time in Spain, in Andalusia especially. I like Sardinia and Sicily very much. They are beautiful, but very different, so it is really difficult to decide which one is better. I am fascinated with Russia, a country that is beautiful and strange at the same time. It stays in mind forever and pulls like a magnet. I don't rush anywhere, I don't just 'tick' countries. I love returning to the places that I know and admire how different they are in different parts of the year. I try to get a close-up at them rather than admire through the window of a luxury car. This is why I often travel by motorbike. I care about my health so that I can enjoy travelling for many years in the future, because travelling, next to my family and few other things, is the biggest value in life.

Andrzej Tkaczow, Sales Manager

My favourite hotels?

Most of them are hotels offered by our travel agency. Each of them is special in its own way. I'm thinking about Amanpulo, situated on the Philippine island of Pamalica in the Sulu Sea. The hotel belongs to the prestigious Aman group. It occupies the whole island in the middle of the sea and has a white-sand beach as well as a beautiful coral reef. Here you can feel like Robinson Crusoe, nevertheless you don't have to worry that you will lack anything and the service will be top-class.

I like Asia very much, so I'd like to mention Song Saa Private Island in Cambodia. Everybody knows that Asia is crowded. However, after some intense sightseeing in Thailand or Cambodia, at this hotel you can feel like in the Maldives... At guests' disposal there are villas situated in the jungle, at the beach or over water. It's the place where you can slow down, stop being in a rush, so something that we lack most.

Places I'd like to return to?

I'd like to return to Namibia, although only a few months have passed since I last visited this country. Beautiful landscapes, vast and inhabited spaces, interesting flora and fauna as well as local people make this country fascinating with every step you take.

Nevertheless, there are many places which I'm going to visit, because due to my post as sales manager, I'd like to see everything that matters on the luxury tourism market. Despite appearances, checking places and hotels is a hard job, which has to be done so that we can offer the best hotels and the best prices to our clients.

I'd like to add that it's a great pleasure to work for Luxury Travel and travel the world on behalf of this travel agency. This year I have two reasons to celebrate – Luxury Travel's 15th anniversary and the 10th year of my work, being a part of a team of wonderful people and contributing to Luxury Travel's high position on both national and international markets.

In the afternoon guests will enjoy a cruise along the rivers and canals by private boat.
